

Firwin News - New Laser-Engraved Labelling

Firwin Corp recently upgraded its insulation blanket labelling to blue, anodized aluminum labels. The labels are laser engraved, and offer a number of benefits over Firwin's previous decal type labels that the company was using until recently.

"Our new labelling system gives us a number of advantages over the old system", said Paul Herman, Firwin's president. "Our decal type label had a chance of coming off and not lasting for the life of the blanket", noted Paul. "The laser engraved labels are more firmly attached and will last as long as the blanket. The new labels also allow for a much cleaner, professional look", added Paul.
